Add coincidences:
I had just finished reading a letter from Sgt. George W. (Bud) Naylor at an army air force base somewhere in England, when I glanced casually at a piece of copy that had just come in over The Associated Press printer. . . I caught my breath and hurriedly began taking both apart word-by-word.

Bud had written: "Do you remember Don Scott? He was an All-American football player from O. S. U. about four years ago. He is in my outfit and I have had many opportunities to fly with him" . . . that was just a part of his letter . . . but it suddenly became very important. For, the bulletin I had just read said: "Capt. Don. F. Scott, 23, commanding officer of a Maurauder bomber was killed October 1" . . . it was several minutes before the details of the story carried in yesterday's Record-Herald started coming in . . . what a relief when there was no Sgt. Naylor listed as being with him when Capt. Scott crashed during a routine training flight.

I had a long talk with Bud when he was home on furlough just before he went across. . . I never saw a young man with more enthusiasm for his job . . . he was a gunner-navigator-radio operator on one of these fast-flying, low-level medium bombers . . . his eyes just sparkled as he told me how they had trained to dash along at tree-top height . . . or skim over land or sea for skip-bombing, depending on speed for safety from enemy guns . . . he's having some wonderful experiences . . . experiences he'll never forget . . . but, like hundreds of other American boys, he's thinking of home . . . in his last letter he wrote: "How's everything going back in the old home town" . . . I knew he would be counting on an answer and I got it off at the first opportunity, assuring him everything was all right. . . It's not strange that the letters from the boys overseas are full of questions . . . they're just trying to make sure they'll get some mail from home . . . and they should get it . . . incidentally, I find it a great deal of pleasure to write to them because they always have something interesting to send back . . . and it's not often that they are long in answering . . . that's their link with home . . . and believe me they do their part to keep it from breaking . . . as Bud wrote: "I'd give my right arm to be there this minute" . . . then he added: "Looks like things are getting pretty hot for the Axis. My crew and I have participated in raids over enemy territory (number not given) and I can truthfully say we really sweat it out. It certainly is a relief to step on solid ground again. Our original plane was named 'Kentucky Belle' but now we have one named 'El Capitán' and I'm on a crew with fine fellows" . . . he didn't say what happened to "Kentucky Belle" . . . military secret maybe.

So, whenever I read a comparatively small item in the news about a flight of Marauder bombers raiding enemy territory, I think of Bud and all the boys like him . . . what a job those kids are doing for us . . . anything we can do for them seems so puny by comparison . . . wouldn't it be a tragedy if they ran short of gasoline? . . . they couldn't get out and walk home.

Bud, like many of the others, has a wife, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen J. Naylor, and many friends at home.

CIGARETTE SHORTAGE IS LOOMING IN AMERICA
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Americans are facing a cigarette shortage, the Commerce Department said today.

Noting growing demands that may send 1943 consumption to nearly 300,000,000 cigarettes, the department said manufacturers already were dipping into 1944 and 1945 reserves "to satisfy the need for 35,000,000,000 to 50,000,000,000 more cigarettes than the industry can buy tobacco to make."

UNION PROPOSES OPENING BOOKS FOR INSPECTION

Under-secretary of War Impresses Labor With Patriotic Obligation

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Any optimism that Germany and Japan are about to crumble and that the United Nations are close to complete victory in the war "has no solid basis in fact," Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson asserted today.

Addressing delegates to the eighth convention of the CIO-United Automobile Workers, the undersecretary declared it is the "considered opinion of General Marshall (Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff) and our military leaders that there is a long hard struggle ahead."

America's main advantage in the war is its ability to produce weapons, Patterson said, adding that to accomplish the defeat of Germany and Japan will demand the wholehearted and single-minded effort of every man and woman in this country.

WOULD OPEN BOOKS
BOSTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Teamsters submitted to the American Federation of Labor convention, in session today, a constitutional amendment which would expose the financial records of affiliated unions to the scrutiny of the federation's top officials.

The proposal would alter the fundamental nature of the AFL, which is a loose confederation of autonomous unions. These unions adopt their own constitutions, fix their own dues, and manage their own affairs in every respect without interference from the AFL. They pay only a relatively small tax per member to the AFL as a token of affiliation.

The teamsters, the largest numerically and one of the most influential in the federation, is headed by Daniel J. Tobin.

President Roosevelt sent his felicitations to the convention for accomplishment of a "splendid task" by American wage earners and called upon them for an even greater effort until the peace is won.

The president also asked the federation's continued help in stabilizing the domestic economy and told the delegates "we anticipate a good deal of success in the roll-back of prices which will stabilize and reduce the cost of living in essentials."

Secretary of Labor Perkins, addressing the convention, praised organized labor's war record in general but added that in war time no strike was justified.

She said the no-strike, no-lockout pledge had been kept 99 percent and that the ratio of man-days lost through strikes since Pearl Harbor has been only sixteen one-hundredths of 1 percent of the number worked.

The Brotherhood of Teamsters submitted to the convention a constitutional amendment which would open the financial records of affiliated unions to audits by top AFL officials.

CRITICAL BEEF SHORTAGE ON WAY NOW, LEADERS SAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(AP)—A livestock industry leader said today a "critical" beef shortage is in the making, threatening to be "more acute" than it was last spring.

He said the number of feeder cattle shipped into the corn belt states from the western ranges in the last three months was 21 percent fewer than for the same period a year ago.

Flying Fortress To Get Big Guns To Put in Nose

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Flying Fortress is going to lead with its chin—and the enemy is not expected to like it.

A chin turret equipped with two .50 caliber guns is being installed just below the bombardier's station on Fortresses to aid in fighting off frontal attacks, Vega Aircraft Corp. has announced. The turret is power operated and remote controlled.

Heretofore the Fortress nose was protected by only three swivel guns.

FARM MACHINERY TO BE INCREASED IN U. S. NEXT YEAR

Farm Leaders Reluctant To Meet War Needs

COLUMBUS, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Four times as much farm machinery will be available for 1944 as this year, a War Food Administration official today informed Ohio farm leaders meeting to determine state production goals.

In addition to the 300 per cent machinery increase, which will be allocated by states, a 20 per cent reserve will be retained for use in critical areas, said A. L. Korn, WFA regional representative for War Board Services.

Robert Miles, Ohio Agricultural Adjustment Administration machinery expert, asserted also there would be unlimited production of repair parts for farm equipment next year.

"More steel has been allocated to the WFA for the last two quarters than for all last year," Miles said. "Another bright spot is the lowered army requirements for tanks. Most of the component parts of farm machinery that we're short of go into the manufacture of tanks."

Ohio farm leaders indicated reluctance to reduce production of Ohio soil in meeting 1944 food goals which are expected to exceed this year's record harvest.

War Food Administrations officials, outlining heavier civilian, military and lend-lease food requirements at a meeting called to set state goals, suggested that Ohio's tame hay crop, a soilbuilder, be reduced 47,000 acres and the land put to other use.

A show of hands disclosed unanimous desire among representatives of Ohio farm agencies to maintain hay acreage at its present level of 2,447,000 acres.

RETAIL SALES TAX PROPOSAL REVIVED

'No Deductions' Is Chief Argument for It

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—A 10 percent "Victory" retail sales tax estimated to yield $6,000,000,000, was proposed to Congress today by M. L. Seidman, chairman of the Tax committee of the New York Board of Trade.

Seidman appeared before the House Ways and Means committee after the treasury's proposal for $10,500,000,000 in additional income and excise levies appeared to have been virtually scrapped by adverse congressional reaction.

"If ever a federal sales tax is justified, now is the time," Seidman said. "I would allow no exemptions."

The National Lawyers Guild submitted to the committee a nine-point tax program which, among other things, would increase upper-bracket income taxes and limit individual net incomes to $25,000 a year after taxes.

SERIES OPENER WON BY YANKEES FROM CARDS, 4-2

Champions Beaten Partly by Odd Fielding Coupled With Challengers' Hits

By SID FEDER

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—In a comedy of errors and weird defensive play that resembled sandlot baseball on occasions, the New York Yankees whipped the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 2, today behind the seven-hit pitching of Spud Chandler to draw first blood in the 1943 World Series.

The year's outstanding pitcher in the major leagues, Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, faced one of the toughest southpaws of the National League season, Max Lanier in the opener.

Chandler, a righthander, won 20 games and lost four during the regular season while Lanier's record was 15 and 7.

The fans blocked into the "house that Ruth built" in great swarms today to see the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees open the 1943 World Series.

The weather was bright and crisp and although the early comers wore top coats, the warm sunbathing the playing field promised a perfect setting for the renewal of the rivalry between the Redbirds and Yankees.

At 10:30 A. M. (EWT), three hours before game time, the bleachers were nearly filled and the unreserved seats in the grandstand were rapidly filling up so that expectations of a capacity crowd of 70,000 appeared likely to be reached.

Some of the fans, determined to get in on the purchase of the 28,000 tickets placed on sale when gates opened this morning, had remained in line around the big concrete stadium all night, but others who came to the ball park in the morning were able to enter without waiting.

Promptly at 11 A. M., the band, parked in the sun at the foot of the center field flag pole, began entertaining the early arrivals. And half an hour later, shortly after the music-makers gave out with "Take Me Out To The Ball Game," some of the Yankees made their appearance to start batting practice.

Sea Around Solomons Is Scene Of Carnage As Japs Seek To Flee

U. S. HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Attacking U. S. destroyers turned waters of the central Solomons into a scene of "carnage and complete confusion" for Japanese attempting to evacuate men and supplies by barge from besieged Kolombangara island.

A naval spokesman at South Pacific headquarters, describing two successive night actions Friday and Saturday when 40 or more barges were sunk or damaged, said today a force of Japanese destroyers attempted to intervene. He added:

"On Saturday destroyers intercepted a heavy concentration of at least 20 large enemy barges and many smaller ones. Most of the large craft were sent to the bottom."

At midnight Saturday, destroyers encountered a formation of Japanese gunboats similar to American sub-chasers.

These fast, light, maneuverable enemy craft were promptly attacked. One was sunk and others damaged. They fled in the direction of Choiseul Island, 50 miles north of Kolombangara.

The only ground activity on the Southwest Pacific front was reported from Allied troops moving northwestward along the Ramu River in interior New Guinea to envelop the Japanese along the north coast of the island between Finschhafen and Madang.

American Flier Beheaded By Japs In New Guinea, Jap Diary Reveals

By C. YATES McDANIEL
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Komai and Tsukioke: These are names that won't be forgotten by the men who fly for General Douglas MacArthur.

Komai and Tsukioke were the Japanese officers responsible for the beheading of a young American airman according to the "Samurai Code" of the Japanese, the code of feudal warriors.

The shocking execution came to light in the diary of a captured Japanese soldier who had to admit in his bloody recital that the American was "more composed than I thought he would be."

(The execution was the first such violation of international law reported, since last April when it was announced that the Japanese had executed several American fliers captured in the bombing of Japan a year before.)

The diary, dated March 29, said the airman was 23 years of age, an instructor in the transport command at Port Moresby, New Guinea, and was a member

Frankfurt Bears Brunt of Big Night Attack—Little Opposition for Bombers

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Hitting the blasted German city of Frankfurt less than 12 hours after American Flying Fortresses delivered a precision blow there, RAF heavy bombers last night dumped another load upon that war production center while a smaller fleet of night bombers struck Ludwigshafen.

The great bomber fleet ranged over much of the Rhineland during the night delivering the main attack on Frankfurt—exceeding 500 tons—and a force of Lancasters made a subordinate raid on Ludwigshafen which, with its twin city of Mannheim across the river, has been blasted 59 times previously.

From all of these operations, which included Mosquito attacks on other objectives in northwest Germany, 12 planes failed to return.

The attack on Frankfurt was the RAF's first substantial raid there, and the 18th major Allied attack in a little more than a fortnight of heavy bomber activity.

The drone of heavy bombers beat the skies over southeast England as aircraft went out in a seemingly endless procession.

Once more the RAF split its force between two targets using the strategy of confusion against harried German defenses. By hitting Frankfurt in only a matter of hours after American Flying Fortresses, it gave impetus to the recent suggestion by Prime Minister Churchill that the time eventually would be reached which would permit the methodical destruction by day and night of Nazi military objectives.

Canadian pilots who participated in the mass night attack said the fires left by the Frankfurt pounding could be seen 300 miles away. They reported little opposition which they attributed to the disorganization caused by the American daylight attack.

The RAF overnight foray followed a day of great activity by American heavy bombers, during which an aircraft factory at Frankfurt was subjected to a smashing attack and 75 German planes were shot out of the sky. Fifteen heavy bombers were listed as missing in the day's operations.

Berlin acknowledged today that last night's RAF raid on Frankfurt was "severe."

The broadcast said Offenbach, five miles east of Frankfurt, also was heavily hit in the night and mentioned the Saar as another raided district.

his famous sword, the famous 'Osamune.' First he touches the prisoner's neck lightly with the sword. Then he raises it overhead. His arm muscles bulge. The prisoner closes his eyes for a second and at once the sword sweeps down.

"Swish. It sounds at first like noise of cutting, but it is actually made by blood spurting from arteries. The body falls forward. Everybody steps forward as the head rolls on the ground.

"Dark blood gushed from the trunk. All is over. There lies the head like a white doll.

"I realize that the emotions I felt just now was not personal pity but manifestations of magnanimity that becomes a chivalrous Samurai."

Then, the diary continued, a medical man took the sword, rolled the American airman's body over on his back and slit the abdomen open with one sweep, commenting, "These thick-headed white bastards are thick-bellied, too."

The body was then buried.

BRENNER PASS BOMBED TO HALT HELP FOR NAZIS

Russian Advance Against German Invaders Is Slowed by Mud

By RICHARD McMURRAY

Powerful Northwest African air armadas—some flying from Italian bases—in a thundering two-pronged attack hammered Nazi airfields in Greece and blocked the German reinforcement road into Italy by smashing bridges in the Brenner Pass rail city of Bolzano, it was announced today.

On the land in Italy, American troops who crossed the Calore River drove nine miles southwest of Benevento yesterday to seize Montesarchio on the lateral road to Naples. Reinforcements were poured into British-held Termoli on the Adriatic.

Bases in Greece Hit
Liberators and Mitchells pounded at air bases in Greece, supporting the British defense of Coo in the Dodecanese, with the Mitchells making the attack from new bases in Italy itself. It was the first attack on Greece from this theater.

(Corsica has been evacuated, Berlin announced, giving the Allies a great new air base and potential invasion springboard of southern France or northern Italy.)

The Brenner Pass feed line from Germany was again blocked by Flying Fortresses that destroyed railroad yards and bridges at Bolzano over the Isarco River.

The double blows on Italy and Greece were a new function of the strength of the Northwest African air force, now able to lunge out to take German pressure off Coo in the Middle East.

Yanks Nearing Rome
The Algiers radio asserted today the American Fifth Army was 85 miles from Rome, to which Marshal Albert Kesselring was swiftly withdrawing his mauled German divisions.

Allied headquarters said only the Fifth Army advance continued. Montesarchio, seven miles southwest of Benevento, was seized. The Eighth Army beat off a German counterattack in the Termoli area of the Adriatic and received reinforcements.

On the Dodecanese island of Coo off Turkey, the hard-pressed British garrison was supported by bombers from the Middle East and from Northwest Africa. They blasted German invasion troops on Coo and struck Nazi air-dromes in Greece from which the enemy apparently sprang.

Turkish reports said some British officers had fled Coo to the mainland, suggesting unfavorable developments. A terse Middle East communique said "fighting continues."

The Germans said they had completed the evacuation of Corsica. French island 100 miles south of the homeland.

Elsewhere in the War
AIR WAR—Heavy RAF bombers blasted the German city of Frankfurt, 12 hours after Flying Fortresses and Thunderbolts of the U. S. air force had pounded an airplane factory by day and destroyed 75 Nazi fighters at the cost of 15 heavy bombers.

The great war production center of more than half a million was hit with more than 500 tons and a smaller attack was pressed against Ludwigshafen and the Rhineland. The British lost 12 planes. It was the fourth successive night blow at Germany. By day, the Allies had struck St. Dizier in France, North Sea objectives, shipping off Holland and rail and water communications in northern France.

PACIFIC—The Japanese beheaded another American flier, U. S. destroyers sank or shattered 40 Japanese barges as Japanese apparently sped evacuation of Kolombangara in the Solomons.

ROBERT ACORD PARALYZED, HAS BROKEN BACK

Is Crushed Between Tractor And Pipe Section Tuesday Morning

Robert Acord today is in Grant Hospital with a broken back as a result of being crushed between a section of pipe and a tractor two miles beyond Bloomingburg at 8 A. M. Tuesday.

Acord, it was said, is paralyzed from the hips down and has a crushed vertebra, several broken ribs and a broken clavicle.

Acord, from near New Holland, is employed by the C. S. Foreman Company and was working on pipeline construction at the time of the accident. He is married and has three children.

He was taken to Dr. J. H. Persinger's office soon after the accident happened by some of the workers on the pipeline. He was X-rayed there and the extent of his injuries was determined.

Acord was taken to Grant Hospital in the Kiever ambulance at about 9:30 A. M., where he will remain for treatment and observation.

His injuries were termed serious by Dr. Persinger, when he told of the accident.

FAYETTE CANNING PLANT STARTS ON PUMPKINS NOW

Today is the last day for canning tomatoes at the Fayette Canning factory, it was learned today. Pumpkin canning will begin on Wednesday.

The frost Monday night destroyed most of the tomatoes, it is said, and although there may be a few isolated fields, the quantities needed for canning will not be available now.

In Highland County, the canning factories are already closed and the surplus tomatoes are being brought to town by farmers to be sold at less than prices received at the cannery. The price will be 50 cents per hamper, which is equivalent to $1 per bushel.

CHANEY FUNERAL IS HELD IN HILLSBORO

Funeral services for Thomas D. Chaney will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Church of Christ at Hillsboro. Rev. Byron Carver will be in charge of the services.

Friends may call at the late residence, 910 Leesburg Avenue. The funeral is under the direction of the Kiever Funeral Home.

OLD OFFENDER STRIPS CYCLE; IS HELD HERE

Will Be Returned To the Highland County Juvenile Court

Robert Engle, 17, Leesburg, who, according to Sheriff W. H. Icenhower, has been in trouble many times in Highland and Fayette counties, was arrested by Sheriff Icenhower at his home in Leesburg, and brought to the county jail here on a charge of stripping a motorcycle owned by Charles Duff, of the Waterloo Road.

The stolen parts, valued at $71.25, were found at Engle's home and identified by Duff.

Juvenile Judge Otis B. Core, before whom Engle was taken, remanded Engle to the Juvenile Court of Highland County, his place of residence, and from which he is under probation.

Engle was arrested after complaint was made by Duff to Sheriff Icenhower, who learned that Engle had endeavored to buy parts from the Duff motorcycle a few days prior to the theft, and went to Leesburg in search of him.

Sheriff Icenhower stated that Engle had been in trouble several times before and was under probation in the Highland County Juvenile Court. He said the youth had burglarized two houses in East Monroe, stolen $45 from the school house in Leesburg and a radio from the stockyards in Leesburg.

In Plymouth and Milledgeville communities.

Pallbearers were Dr. David Glass, Stewart Garner, Otha Lower, Homer Miltstead, Harry Hiser and Ewing Fichtorn.

Burial was made in the family lot of Milledgeville Cemetery.

DEserter ARRESTED AFTER LONG SEARCH

Had Escaped from Fort Hayes Last June

Jesse Funk, who has been sought for many weeks as a deserter from the U. S. Army, was taken into custody by the police while eating lunch in a local restaurant, and held for Fort Hayes authorities.

Funk was taken into custody last June for being absent without leave according to Captain Jess Ellis of the Washington C. H. police, and escaped from Fort Hayes two days after being returned there. He had been at large since that time.

Captain Ellis said Funk had deserted from Camp Campbell, Kentucky.

WALTER GIRARD DIES TUESDAY

Formerly Operated Store Here For 26 Years

Walter Girard, 80, retired merchant, died at the Mark Nursing Home on South North Street, Tuesday, at 9:50 A. M.

Mr. Girard came to Washington C. H. from Dayton in 1896 and for 26 years operated a 5 and 10 cent store here, disposing of his business and retiring in 1932.

His wife preceded him in death many years ago.

He was a member of the Elks Lodge in this city and spent much of his time at the Elks Club rooms after his retirement from business.

He had been in failing health for the past year or more and had been unconscious the past day or two.

Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Mary Hamilton, of Los Angeles, California.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending word from his sister.

Friends may call at the Hook Funeral Home at any time. Interment will be made in Greenwood Cemetery, Hamilton.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Mud, Not Nazis, Slow Reds In Driving Hitler's Horde Out of Russia, Say Reports

Nature at her best generally can beat man at his worst, and the autumn deluge finally has produced almost impassable seas of mud which have brought the fighting on the Russo-German front to a near standstill in many sectors of the thousand-mile line.

This was to be expected, however, and I'm sure that readers of this column already had their rubbers on and umbrellas ready, having received warning weeks ago. The downpour is no phenomenon such as evoked the observation from Caius Marius—the doughty Roman who a century B. C. also beat the Germans—that "extraordinary rains pretty generally fall after great battles." The Russian flood and mud are fixtures for this time of year—war or no war.

From now until the ground freezes in mid-November much of the eastern front will be a morass. There will be fighting, probably some of it very fierce, but a general lull is in order—a Godsend to the fighting men of both sides, who for months have been under a strain almost beyond human endurance.

This slackening off in the fighting will give both sides a chance to pull up their socks. Already the Russians appear to be getting set for a big winter offensive which will capitalize the sensational gains of the summer. This can't come until the ground freezes, and last year the Muscovites didn't get going until November 19.

Even at that date the big rivers aren't well frozen, though the ground is hard enough for the movement of troops and equipment. For instance, the Dnieper, astride which much of the fighting front now rides, doesn't freeze in most places until mid-December or later.

Reflecting the possibility of another huge offensive, the Moscow newspaper Pravda describes a fighter plane factory where production has more than doubled in a year—without additional equipment and with five percent fewer workmen. One of the planes produced at this plant is a new wooden-fuselage fighter which is regarded as among the Soviet's best warplanes.

While we are on the subject of offensives and warplanes, I've been asked to explain why it is that the Nazis haven't been bombing Moscow and other Russian cities well behind the fighting front, and why the Reds haven't been attacking German cities like Berlin.

Well, there are several reasons. Foremost we must place the fact that the fighting which has been raging along the Russian front since last winter has day by day been producing some of the most terrific air battles of the air. To give a single example at random, on May 17 of this year Moscow announced that the Red Air Force had destroyed 1,300 Nazi planes in two weeks. The Russian casualties weren't given. The losses in men and machines for many months past have been staggering.

In short, the demand for fighting planes and bombers along the front has been so heavy that neither the Russians nor the Germans appear to have had either time or equipment for many long-range adventures elsewhere. Last year the Russians, in cooperation with the British, did do considerable long-range bombing.

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

As predicted in this column last week, the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate will not give consideration to the Fulbright Resolution passed by the House two weeks ago. Instead, as a result of tabling the Fulbright Resolution by Committee action last week, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will draw its own resolution as to what American post war foreign policy should be. Some members of the Senate have expressed themselves as opposed to any discussion or consideration of future foreign policy at this time on the theory that heated or involved debate of the subject would not be beneficial to the war effort.

Beginning next week the special House Committee on Petroleum, made up of a portion of the membership of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, will start a thorough and comprehensive investigation of the production, distribution, and rationing of crude oil and gasoline. The committee, of which your humble servant is a member, expects to go into every phase of the oil and gasoline situation, in the belief that the general public and the Congress have a right to know the truth. Statements and reports, issued by various Government agencies and officials having jurisdiction over oil production and distribution, have differed so greatly as to create uncertainty as to the true state of affairs. An exhaustive Congressional investigation should put an end to the present confusion and furnish to the people definite facts as to present and future supplies of our most important national resource.

The Administration's plan, which became effective October 1, to subsidize the production of milk and other dairy products through payment of special cash allowances to farm producers will have rough sledding in Congress.

Various national organizations representing the producers are bitterly opposing the program, and most members of the House and Senate from rural areas, as well as many from city districts, will be found voting against any legislation to provide funds or authority for subsidizing milk production. Instead, these organizations and legislators suggest that price ceilings be lifted to permit the farmers to receive fair compensation, based on cost of production, for their dairy products. Present indications are that the Congress is more opposed to food subsidies at the present time than it was before the Congressional recess.

A showdown on the Administration's price rollback and food subsidy program will come on the Bill to extend the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation, and to increase the appropriations which would be used in financing the payment of subsidies. Incidentally, with the ration value of butter increased to 16 points per pound, it is still practically impossible to find any butter in the eastern section of the United States; and we might be forgiven for calling the attention of our readers to the fact that the development of such a shortage was predicted in this column a year ago. Other and more stringent food shortages may be expected in the months ahead. Many will come solely as the result of the bureaucratic bungling of the food problem.

Do not be surprised if orders are issued for the rationing of coal any time now. Already orders issued by the Solid Fuels Administrator, Harold L. Ickes, giving preference to coal shipments and deliveries to certain sections of the country, are in effect. In other areas deliveries of coal to persons having a certain supply on hand has been prohibited. The total tonnage of coal now being produced is below expectations and national needs. There are many indications that the coal supply situation will grow much worse before it gets better.

It appears more and more likely that legislation to prohibit the drafting of fathers will not pass the Senate. However, some limitations may be placed on the induction of fathers such as requiring those under thirty years of age to be taken first. In the meantime, the national Selective Service headquarters have announced that fathers will not be taken in the first October call, thus delaying the induction of fathers until the Senate has an opportunity to pass upon the question. It appears that, as a result of recent discussions and senatorial debate, many single men and married men without children, now holding civilian positions in the Government will be scheduled for early induction into the armed forces, while a most careful check and survey of other deferments will also be made.

It has become so evident that present allotments made to dependent wives and children of men in the armed services are insufficient to meet living costs, that the Congress will soon give consideration to legislation increasing these allowances. Already a number of bills for this purpose have been introduced, calling for different allotment amounts. The Military Affairs Committee of the House is making a study of the situation and the plan most likely of final approval is an allotment of $60 per month for a dependent wife, with $18 for the first child and $12 for each additional child; $22 of the total amount being deducted from the enlisted man's pay. Present allotments are $50 for the wife, and $12 for the first child and $10 for each additional child.

Highlighting the session of the Fayette County Ministerial Association held Monday morning in the Baptist Church, was Rev. Byron Carver's paper, "The Purpose and Factors of Christian Education."

Rev. Carver, pastor of the North Street Church of Christ, said that he chose the topic because of the "pressing problem of juvenile delinquency that is before communities all over the country." "The Church in its peculiar position, must call itself to fundamentals to help meet this breach in the desirable way of life," he stated. Rev. Carver reviewed the popular methods of Christian Education in the paper, and then summed up the "general purpose" as "Christ centered living."

FACT OR FICTION

Periodically notices appear in the press informing the country of changes in the point value of rationed commodities. After they are made, it is explained that they were necessary in order to "adjust" demand to meet dwindling supply.

For example, if, in the opinion of the rationing authorities, too many people want to buy a certain item, it is a simple matter to raise the point price of that item. Demand promptly falls off. It works smoothly and quickly. To all appearances, the old-fashioned laws of supply and demand become crude by comparison.

But there is one catch. Under the old natural laws merchants knew what to expect from consumers. They knew that the public would buy so many shoes, so many barrels of flour, or so many tons of canned goods. And they planned the operation of their businesses accordingly. The larger the retailer, the greater became his contractual commitments to manufacturers and producers. By planning and shrewd calculation of future consumer demand, the American distribution system was brought to a state of unequalled perfection.

Under the present method of juggling the laws of supply and demand, the merchant is helpless. If he agrees to purchase a quantity of goods from a producer at a substantial saving, he has no way of knowing whether he will be permitted to dispose of those goods as in the past. They may be rationed and the point value set so high that they will be frozen on his shelves indefinitely. All the expense saving efforts of the distribution industry, from the largest chain down to the smallest retailer, which have so long benefited the consumer, can now be wiped out with a scratch of an official pen. After the war, production and distribution must be freed as quickly as possible of artificial handicaps. That is the only way to achieve, in fact, the fiction of future abundance now being created for the people by planners and dreamers of every stripe.

IN FAIRNESS TO LOYALTY

The Japanese-American problem is taking a new form. Those whose loyalty has been thoroughly investigated by the FBI and found trustworthy are being transferred to eastern and central parts of the country. One midwestern city already has 300, all under 30 years of age, most of them under 25. The government is now trying to find them work and homes outside of the slum districts. Many are doing confidential work for Uncle Sam.

In view of the treachery displayed by so many Japanese fighting men, it is natural to suspect people of that race. And the FBI shares that tendency. Therefore, if these federal experts say that a Japanese-American is loyal, private citizens with fewer opportunities to know

SLIPPING STATE'S RIGHTS

The War Labor Board now asserts officially that its rulings supersede the specific acts of state legislature in all matters concerning labor relations. This is on the theory that the WLB is legally an arm of the president acting under his war powers.

Whether or not this may be desirable in connection with any particular labor disturbance, it raises a question that the highest court should pass upon.

The federal government has only specifically delegated powers, in peace or in war. All powers not delegated to Washington are retained by the states. Often state legislation interferes with progress. But often, too, federal directives try to move too fast and are ill-considered and harmful.

THOSE WHO SERVE

Even the disabled soldiers of the first world war are helping today. Gen. Frank T. There are 7,000 of them now off the compensation lists because they have defense jobs. Some have even enlisted, having managed to get round their physical handicaps.

Such patriotism puts many of the able-bodied to shame.

Cause of Foot Troubles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE CHIEF cause of the weakness and inefficiency of the modern man's (and woman's) foot is the modern shoe. According to eminent authority, the feet of American children are well on the way to deformity by the time the child is 10 years old. "By early adult life the foot is deformed to such an extent that the modern person is functionally a cripple."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

These are the judgments of an army medical officer who has been for the past few years studying the problem of the functional inadequacy of feet in young and otherwise vigorous recruits.

No one, of course, is proposing that the modern man should go barefoot. Even though it is admitted that the strongest feet in the world belong to the peoples who do go barefoot, or wear only moccasins. But such peoples live in a warm climate with no snow, fall, and terrain that is not too rough.

Importance of Sole

The most important item in the modern man's shoe is the sole, no matter what the experts say about the rest of the requirements.

Granted the sole which protects you against hot pavements in summer, and ice and snow in winter, and a thousand sharp points and projections, the main criticism of the modern shoe is that it is too narrow—and narrow in the wrong place.

When you see the Army shoe you must be struck with its width in front which gives it a bulbous appearance. It is wide exactly at the place where the natural foot is wide—across the base of the toes. Compare it to an average stylish shoe and you find that the latter is widest an inch or more further back, across the instep and narrows as it comes towards the toes.

Measuring Shoes

Levine says, "Proper length requires that there should be a space as wide as an ordinary thumb distal to the toenail of the great toe." and that for "proper width the fitter should be able to insert the index finger under the tongue and down towards the toes when the shoe is unlaced."

These principles which are carried out in the Army shoe are the result of many experiments and experiences of army orthopedic surgeons both in this country and in England. The Army shoe in this war is an improvement over the Army shoe of World War I, and in this conflict far less foot trouble is ascribed to footwear than previously.

The commonest foot complaint among the thousands whom the Army doctors have to attend is just plain hurting feet—the result of the strain of marching and standing. This could go on to fallen arches unless rest and treatment were instituted. But as a matter of fact, it may be an indication that the foot is recovering from the effects of its "civilized" footwear and is beginning to become a strong foot.

Exercise is both tiring and strengthening, and after the preliminary rest period, foot exercise are the mainstay in the treatment of weak pedal arches.

ATTU, Aleutian Islands — Chaplain Francis W. Read, of Glendale Calif., has a subject he wants to preach on when he gets back to civilian life—"The Soldier Who Came to Church Without His Pants."

Chaplain Read said the episode occurred like this:

"A lieutenant came to me following services held in a mess tent and I saw he had attended the services without his pants. All he wore was a pair of long drawers and a field jacket. He explained that he had had his pants cut off so a doctor could get at a wound and that as between coming to church without pants and not coming at all he chose the former."

The Chaplain said "It was amazing how the men would stand in rain, fog, cold and wind and almost knee deep in mud to worship. I held services in every war tent and in other locations and when I inadvertently missed a tent, the men felt it keenly. It was not unusual to hear men say 'Chaplain we've been sweating you out all day!'"

"Very well, I'll try," said Brenda. "It's pretty late, though."

"City girl shouldn't mind that."

"I don't. I was thinking of you."

"Thanks," said Adam. "But what I have to say to you is more important than retiring early. Besides, I have a definite reason for wanting to be out at your place at a late hour."

"All right. Let's start."

Mrs. Platt was willing for Brenda to leave her car, and as soon as Adam had backed it into the garage he helped Brenda into his own car and they were off.

"I'm waiting," said Brenda, after they had driven some distance. "You had something important to say to me."

"Yes," said Adam. "I'm going to ask a big favor of you."

"What is this, anyway?" Brenda laughed. "Are you turning the tables or something? People have always asked Adam—and now—"

"And now I'm going to do the asking. Do you mind very much?"

"Certainly not. Go on."

"You know that little tower on the old Leigh place?" Adam said.

"From where you can see for quite a distance around the country."

"Yes, of course. But what on earth—"

"I want you to spend a lot of time there, Brenda," Adam went on. "As much time as you can spare. In fact, if I remember right, the tower is large enough to hold a typewriter, table and chair. Couldn't you do most of your writing up there—glancing up now and then to see what's going on—in the direction of the old Johnson farm, for instance?"

"Adam North, will you come to the point?" Brenda said, somewhat exasperated.

"Okay, I will," said Adam.

Then he told her about the talk he had had with the foreman and the other men—all about their discussion as to the advisability of putting a guard post at the Johnson place, or along the river. He also told her something of what he had heard while down in Washington.

"I see," said Brenda, brightening. "It sounds exciting."

"You could do a lot of investigating without arousing suspicion. I mean, you could report any unusual activity you happened to see along the river near the Johnson farm, or in and around the house itself."

"Of course I could!"

"And you'd do it?"

"You bet I will!" Brenda turned toward Adam, her eyes shining. "I've been feeling like a slacker, not doing anything of real importance at a time like this, and now I can really be of service."

"Thanks, Brenda, you're swell!"

"You're pretty swell yourself, Adam. Thank you for giving me a chance to be of service."

She looked around at the dark countryside. "I never realized before what danger Linville was in."

"It may be nothing at all," said Adam. "But I think we ought to be on the alert all the time. He speeded up the car. 'When we get to your place, I'd like to have a look at the tower. I want to see if it's possible to detect lights at some distance. Have you any field-glasses?'"

"No," said Brenda.

"Well, I have. I'll bring them out tomorrow."

They reached the Leigh property shortly afterward, and Brenda hurriedly unlocked the door.

"I don't much like the idea of your living here alone," Adam said as they entered the hall.

"I don't live alone," said Brenda. "I've persuaded old Aunt Mary Mosher to stay with me. She used to work for the Leigh family, and still treats me as though I were a child."

"Good!" Adam said. "Have you had the telephone connected?"

"It starts working tomorrow," Brenda said. "So Agent PDQ can keep in direct touch with you," she added with a smile.

"Okay, but be careful what you say," Adam warned. "This isn't a game, you know. It's serious."

"I understand," said Brenda. "Now, come on, let's climb up to the tower. I'll get a light."

"No, I'd rather you didn't do that. We'd better go up in the dark. Then we can see better what's going on outside."

Up and up they went—the flight to the second floor, the flight to a tricky little landing—and then the steps to the tower.

"It was added as an afterthought," said Brenda, "by a great-uncle of mine who was a nature student. He liked to sit in the tower with glasses and study the birds and the sky."

"And now his great-niece can study more serious things," said Adam. "Here, give me your hand."

he said, as they reached their destination. "Don't move until your eyes are accustomed to the darkness."

"Okay, I can see!" said Brenda. "Maybe those stars way up there are helping." She stood in the center of the small room for a moment. "Yes, I could bring my writing up here. And since there are windows on all four sides of the tower, I can keep an eye on north, south, east and west."

"Right!" said Adam. "The Johnson farm is over toward the west. That's the main direction to keep in mind."

"But that big elm tree out there interferes."

"I'll bring a saw out with me tomorrow, and thin out some of the branches. Got a ladder?"

America Does Have Freedom of Press

(Editor's Note: In observance of National Newspaper Week, the Associated Press asked its former chiefs of bureaus in Axis capitals to describe how the press is throttled in those countries. Today, Louis Lochner, now a radio news analyst on the Pacific Coast for the Associated Press, writes of conditions in Germany. In subsequent articles, Richard Massock will tell the Italian story and Max Hill will write about Japan.)

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Former chief of Associated Press bureau in Berlin.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—(AP)—When, a little over a year ago, I returned to our United States after five months internment by the Nazis, many a friend in the newspaper profession gripped me about the war censorship set up for our American press after Pearl Harbor. "It's no different from what the Nazis are doing," some fellow journalists would exclaim.

I could not help laughing at this ignorance of what press control under Nazism means. Our war censorship under the able direction of Byron Price is concerned solely with keeping from the enemy such information as may help him militarily.

The widest thinkable latitude for expression of dissent, of criticism, of individual viewpoint obtains in our country any non-Nazi German editor would jump at the chance to work in his country under conditions anywhere similar to ours. And even many a faithful Nazi would join him.

Early in the Nazi regime, Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels pretended to encourage criticism. He assured the German press that "constructive criticism was welcomed and that the regimentation of the press applied only to that form of subversive activity which, under the guise of criticism, sought to undermine the new Third Reich of Adolf Hitler."

The editor of one of the Ullstein publications—I believe it was the "Grüne Post"—guilelessly took the "little doctor" at his word and aired a few grievances which, as I read them, seemed innocuous enough. The editor was promptly removed on Goebbels' orders. Nobody after him dared criticize.

Some weeks before the famous "purge" of June 30, 1934, Franz von Papen, then vice-chancellor, delivered a speech before the students of Marburg University in which he criticized certain dictatorial tendencies in the Nazi movement.

Hitler's Gestapo discovered that Von Papen had a ghost writer named Jung, who had prepared this speech for Germany's outstanding political will-o-the-wisp. Jung disappeared with the purge.

Regimentation of the German press under Adolf Hitler goes so far that even the size of the headline and the position of the item on the page are prescribed in the case of news considered important by the regime.

If an individual paper digs up an item of its own, it must first confer with the official news bureau, the D.N.B.

I stood beside an unhappy German editor once who did nothing more than to describe, in terms flattening to der Fuehrer, a reception in Goebbels' official residence at which Adolf Hitler appeared unexpectedly.

Imagine his disgust when, later in the day, he confided to me that he was not even permitted to publish his own version of a social affair, but was compelled to accept the stilted, bureaucratic DNB version!

For Adolf Hitler, the abject and complete regimentation of the German press was a well-meant means to achieve his principal aim, viz., that of planning and preparing for the greatest war in history.

No matter what successive acts of aggression Hitler committed, his robots of the press were there to "make the worst appear the better reason."

No matter what warnings foreign nations might sound that the limit of their patience had been reached, the Nazi regimented press either misquoted or suppressed these warnings, and then proceeded to represent Hitler as the innocent Sir Galahad who had but one object in life, that of preserving peace of the world.

Probably no nation was more dazed when war actually came, than the rank and file of the Germans themselves.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—If you want to find a rat who's cheating Uncle Sam these war days, pump a little smoke down the hole and you'll chase out one that lives by cheating the public, too.

That at least is the conclusion of W. H. Woolf, chief of the intelligence unit of the U. S. Treasury. Woolf is one of Treasury Enforcement Agencies Coordinator Elmer L. Irey's boys, and his unit's activities alone are now bringing more than $58,000,000 a year into the Treasury from income tax cheaters, to say nothing of the hundreds of millions saved by scaring the pants off crooks who would be holding out on Uncle Sam if the Treasury Woolfs weren't so active.

Among some of the choice chisellers whose cases have been written off the books in recent months, Woolf lists a card sharp, a couple of blue-sky mining operators, a Boston lottery king, a crooked tax adviser and three Japs.

The gambler was a New Yorker, who, Woolf estimates, counted his annual take in six figures. He's now serving 2 1/2 years—not for gambling, but for failure to give a true and honest account of his take to the Treasury and paying his allotted tax thereon.

The lottery king served a short sentence once before for income tax evasion, but didn't learn. His second offense got him three years. Two Nevada men were the mining stock peddlers who weren't content with sharing their profits with Uncle Sam. In addition to a year apiece, they each drew $20,000 fines.

What Woolf describes as "one of the nearest rackets recently uncovered by the Treasury" was that conducted in Ohio by an income tax "expert." He lured clients into his office, got their signatures on income tax returns, collected the tax payments, then changed the forms to bring in greater exemptions and pocketed the difference between what he paid the collector and what his "clients" had paid him. One of the slips was listing a $400 minor child exemption for an unmarried school teacher. The judge gave him three years to think that one over.

The Japs, a trio of Joes who operated a restaurant in St.

Petersburg, Fla., might not have been caught at all if it hadn't been for Pearl Harbor. When the alien property seizures were made right after that memorable Sunday, they found two sets of books—one kept in Japanese and one in English. The Jap set showed a profit of $40,000 more than those set up for inspection of their foster Uncle.

It will be noted that with the exception of the Japs, all the worthies in this cross-section were, according to Woolf, playing other games of tag with the law for which they might well have been tapped out. In other words, when nobody else could catch them, the Woolf pack did.

These "pros" in the rackets aren't the only ones who try to cheat the Treasury, of course, but it's surprising how many times criminal action turns up criminal. Out of 112 criminal indictments filed last year, the intelligence unit got 107 convictions and nearly all of them were operating in the shady side of the street, not in legitimate business.

Alpha Chapter of Gradale Sorority Installs New Officers at Meeting, Monday

Monday evening, at an impressive candlelight service held in the Record-Herald club rooms, the new officers for the Alpha Chapter of Gradale Sorority, were installed.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Evelyn Mossbarger, outgoing primus, gave a short speech of welcome to the new officers, and urged the members to give their fullest cooperation to the new officers, so that the coming year of work might be successful. She also expressed her appreciation to the officers for the cooperation she had received from them who served under her.

Following this, the presentation of pins and other awards were made by Miss Mossbarger, assisted by Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee. The awards are given to those who earn over 1000 points, judged on the merits of church attendance, attendance at meetings and committee work.

Those presented with the awards were Miss Rebecca Coffey, Mrs. Robert Fennig, Miss Jean Garringer, Miss Marcia Highley, Mrs. Robert Hook, Mrs. Emery Lynch, Miss Juanita Purcell, Mrs. Paul Metzger, Miss Clara Belle Robinson, Mrs. George Robinson, Jr. and Miss Jane Sexton.

The officers installed were Mrs. William Thompson, primus; Mrs. Emerson Marting, promissus; Miss Rebecca Coffey, tribune; Mrs. William McCoy, corresponding tribune and Miss Clara Belle Robinson, quaestor, (re-elected).

The impressive ceremony was conducted in candlelight. Two seven-branch candelabra, flanked the black covered table, with an open Bible placed upon it, and the light of a single white candle, shedding its glow.

The meeting closed with the friendship circle, preceding which Miss Mossbarger made the presentation of certificates to the members, showing the points earned during the past year.

Golden Wedding Celebrated by Dr. And Mrs. Jones

Dr. and Mrs. Neil B. Jones celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday, October third, with a family gathering at their home on East Street. Light refreshments were served at the tea hour from a beautifully decorated table, the keynote of which was a gold and white frosted cake bearing the names of the honored couple and the date, the gift from the Misses May and Grace Duffee.

Yellow roses and fern, with varicolored chrysanthemums as a centerpiece, added a further note to the color scheme.

Dr. and Mrs. Jones were married at the home of Mrs. Jones' parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Socin, in Chillicothe, Ohio, October third, eighteen hundred and ninety three.

Their three children, Mrs. Hart Gibson Foster, of Pinehurst, N. C., Mrs. Rufus Short of Zanesville and Miss Dorothy Jones were present, as were two of their grandchildren, Barbara Short and Heath Vining Junior. The latter with his wife and twin sons, Heath Vining III and Hart Gibson Vining, great-grandchildren of the couple.

Relatives from out of town called during the afternoon to extend their congratulations.

Dad's Day at Denison University
Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Wilson attended the Dad's Day and Alumni Day held at Denison University, Granville, where their daughter, Joan, is a freshman, Saturday and Sunday. The highlight of the delightful weekend was the luncheon served at the Delta Gamma house Saturday noon, which Miss Wilson and her father, as her guest, attended. Other activities honored the visiting fathers, one of particular interest was the review staged Saturday afternoon by the navy, marine and air corps troops, stationed at the university.

DAR Have Initial Meeting of Year at Home Of Mrs. Homer Miller

The opening fall meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the home of Mrs. Homer Miller, Monday, with fifty-nine members and guests present for the day's enjoyable pleasures.

A covered dish luncheon was served buffet style in the dining room, and numerous flower decked tables were placed throughout the home. One vase of pink and white dahlias attracted great attention.

Following the delightful luncheon hour, the regent, Mrs. Frank Michael, turned the meeting over to the program leader for the afternoon, Mrs. D. H. Rowe, chaplain, gave devotions. Mrs. Forest DeBra gave a very interesting reading on the topic, "Coverlets" and for the occasion, numerous coverlets from ninety to one hundred and five years old, were displayed by Mrs. Eliza Waddell, Mrs. Ralph Penn, Mrs. Laura Julian, Mrs. E. F. Todhunter, Mrs. W. O. Beatty and Mrs. Homer Miller. These articles were gorgeous examples of antique handiwork.

The regent, Mrs. Michael, then introduced the guest speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Blosser Anderson of Bainbridge, State Museum Chairman of the Ohio Room. Her address was on the subject of "History of Early Jewelry," and she had brought with her for the occasion, a gorgeous display of jewelry from all the different nations, all advantageously displayed.

Mrs. Dorn, of London, state district chairman, then favored the gathering with a short but interesting address.

Hostess committee for the affair was composed of Mrs. Homer Miller, Mrs. Edgar Coil, Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mrs. Walter McCoy, Mrs. Gilbert Adams, Mrs. A. B. Clifton, Mrs. W. R. Hook, Mrs. E. F. Todhunter, Mrs. Thurman Plummer, Miss Florence Conner, Mrs. Cary Parrett, Miss Dora Hays and Miss Fannie McLean.

Loyal Daughters Meet
The Loyal Daughters Sunday School Class, of the Church of Christ, met at the country home of Mrs. Gurney Adams, with eight members present.

The meeting opened with singing, "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning". The class president, Mrs. Robert Stanforth led the devotional service and conducted the business meeting.

The class decided to not sell Christmas cards this year, but wish to express their appreciation to all who patronized them in previous years. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess to Mrs. Stanforth, Mrs. Everett Ray, Mrs. Forrest Yarger, Mrs. Wayne Stauffer, Miss Mildred Ray, Mrs. Homer Driscoll and son, Billy and Mrs. Lewis Goodson.

Personals
Ensign Orus Jessup, Mrs. Jessup and daughter, Lynne, of Columbus, spent Monday and Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Morris at Sabina.

Ensign Jessup, who received his commission last week, reported last Saturday, October 2, for active duty at the Navy Air Navigation School at Hollywood, Fla.

Mrs. Jessup and daughter, accompanied him and they have a ready furnished cottage. Their address is 1840 Jefferson Street, Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Goodson have received word that their son, Seaman (1-c) Wm. "Bill" L. Goodson, is in U. S. Naval Hospital, Charleston, S. C., where he has undergone a hernia operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes and Miss Teresa Denehey were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Denehey.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Friends Church will meet with Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Wednesday, October 6th at 2 P. M. Co-hostesses are Imogene Blakley, Mrs. Effie Fenner, Mrs. Laura Tobin and Mrs. John Johnson. A full attendance is desired.

70,000 Ready For Series

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The New York Yankees, the St. Louis Cardinals and some 70,000 just-plain-fans moved in on Yankee Stadium for the start of a World Series that was as close as butter on your bread to everyone except the gambling guys.

With Spud Chandler, lately the hottest pitcher in the American League, a top-sided 5 to 8½ choice to give Lefty Max Lanier a lesson in the art of throwing a baseball in the opening shindig, the Bronx Bombers drove into the annual fall fuss at the shortest price they've been in more than a decade.

But while the gambling guys put the Yankees on a 5 to 7½ pedestal to win back the world championship—whether it takes four games or the legal limit—just about everyone else (including the hundreds still looking for series tickets and a place to sleep) were making this return match strictly a case of "you pays your money and you takes your choice."

From all angles it was a "rattle" between the speed and all-around hitting of the "Sweethearts of St. Louis" against the noted pitching edge and the extra-base blasting of the Bombers. And this corner likes the Yankees to get those "Bombs away" in five games or less.

The annual tea-party was shooting at the 69,902 "high" mark hit by the Cards and the Yankees in their Sunday game here a year ago. And with all reserved and box seats sold and the bleacher waiting line forming at the right window for 26 hours before post time at 1:30 P. M. (EWT) today, the cash registers were ready to jingle-jangle-jingle the all-time hit time for what is known hereabouts as the fall classic.

But the Yankees have a few changes and the Ladies League of the A.P.I.

The Heat Treaters of the A.P.I. took all three games from the Production Department crew by the substantial margin of 1884 to 1467 with R. Wical setting the pace. The Production Controllers took the first two games from the Office boys but dropped the last one when the Office force suddenly got the range and racked up a 630. The Inspectors had trouble getting started and were edged out by 11 pins by the Engineers. But they won the last two games by wide margins.

Most of the A.P.I. bowlers were comparatively green at the sport and, although no high scores were made, the records show steady improvement for both individuals and teams in their inaugural.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—If Leo "The Lip" Durocher is looking around the National League for a ball club to manage next season he might as well cross Cincinnati off his list.

Indications from the powers-that-be around the Brooklyn Dodgers' front office (meaning Branch "The Brain" Rickey) are that Durocher will not be at the head of the 1944 edition of the Flatbushers.

And, after what happened Sunday in the season's finale when the Reds beat the Dodgers, any mention of Durocher's name around the Reds' management brings a loud Bronx cheer.

Durocher is accused of purposely keeping the Reds from trying or breaking the National League record for double plays.

Warren C. Giles, General Manager of the Reds, here for the series, is plenty irked. Pittsburgh's defeat by Philadelphia Sunday clinched the third spot in league standings for Brooklyn before the game between the Reds and Dodgers had passed the first inning.

By the fourth inning, the Reds had made two twin killings, bringing their total to 193—one short of the record. Then strange things began to happen to Brooklyn base runners. After reaching first they sprinted for second on the first pitch.

"I'm going to Ford Frick (President of the National League) about it," declared Giles. "And if I don't get any action there I'm going to Commissioner Landis."

Giles continued: "It was always my opinion that a manager's first duty is to try to win. Durocher, in my opinion, definitely proved that he wasn't interested in winning the game. The only thing that Durocher was interested in was to keep our club every batter has to hit his way there.

On form, the Yankees have an edge in both ends of the infield and more particularly in left field, where Charley Keller is the blockbuster. King Kong has hit 31 homers this season, leading the American Leaguers to their 19th straight campaign of whacking 100-or-more round-trippers. And while the Cards expect their southpaw server-uppers to take care of the New York fireworks, the Yankees point out that it only takes one poke out of the lot to get your name on the scoreboard.

NEW YORK Oct. 5.—(AP)—A peculiar thing about this World Series is that the experts who have been watching American League baseball all season generally are picking the Cards to repeat while the National League followers go for the Yankees. That apparently reflects their opinion of 1943 baseball while they're still picking on the basis of what it used to be.

Billy Southworth still to take to win. Billy Southworth still is playing the percentages in naming Max Lanier to start today; lefties are supposed to be the Yankees' weakness so he'll fire Southpaws until something cracks. Joe McCarthy, as usual, leads with his ace. And with that two-day interval after the clubs leave here, it'll give one or the other the chance to become the first three-game winner since Stan Coveleskie in 1920.

One way of figuring the strength of a ball club is to rate them on the catcher-center field axis. A tipoff on this may be that the Cards have completed 180 double plays this season and the Yankees have grounded into 137, just four short of a record.

Branch Rickey and Chuck Dresser sat together at the Garden fights last night—which can be interpreted any way you please. But don't expect any announcement from Rickey about Leo Durocher's status as Dodger manager until the series furore has died down. Latest item on the unconfirmed report market is that Sid Luckman has signed up with the armed forces and several other Bears are about to leave Chicago.

Army and Navy will play at West Point, where they certainly never will sell out the joint.

W. Henry Johnston, Lawrence College publicity director, has figured it out that Marquette's gridders will be 2,484 points better than Lawrence Saturday. He's figuring the number of red points at the prevailing rates for 1943 and the hilltoppers will have a considerable weight advantage.

LEE SAVOLD THINKS HE WILL WIN

AKRON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Counter-punching Lee Savold will come in about 20 pounds lighter than Eddie Blunt, the Brooklyn Negro, when they clash in a ten-round heavyweight scrap at the Armory tonight.

Savold, who did most of his training at Greenwood, N. J., said he would be around 193 while his opponent, who has trimmed such fighters as Buddy Baer, Abe Simon and Tony Musto, is expected to scale 213. Savold will be seeking his 11th straight victory, having knocked out Lou Nova in his last scrap.

"I'm giving away a lot of weight but I think I'll win," declared Savold. After the fight he returns to Greenwood to tune up for a Madison Square Garden bout with Tami Mauriello. Blunt was signed last week to meet Pat Valentino, flashy west coast heavyweight, in a ten-rounder at San Francisco, October 18. The record books list both Savold and Blunt as being 26.

In the eight-round semi-final of Tom Stanley's fight card, Fitzie Fitzpatrick, West Virginia middleweight, will be seeking his 13th straight win. His opponent is Cleo McNeal of Canton, O.

Why Take Fathers And Not Sinkwich Senate Is Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Frankie Sinkwich, Detroit Lions professional football player and Youngstown, Ohio, native, is a puzzle to Senator Wherry (R-Neb.).

Arguing with many men with physical defects could be used in limited service to reduce the number of fathers who might be drafted, Wherry mentioned Sinkwich in the Senate yesterday.

"What's the matter with him?" demanded the Nebraska. "Can't he take the place of some man we can send across the water?" Sinkwich recently was given a medical discharge from the Marine Corps.

Sonny Horne Wins

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Middleweight Sonny Horne of Niles, Ohio, scored a clean decision over Jerry Maloni of Springfield last night, the only boxer to beat Maloni in more than a year. It was Horne's second victory over Maloni and his 17th straight win in Massachusetts.

Kicked Four Years Without a Block
TWIN FALLS, Idaho —(AP)—County Prosecutor Everett M. Sweeley was the star punter of Fielding H. Yost's high scoring Michigan eleven of 1901-02. He says that in his four seasons of booting the piskins for the Wolverines, he never had a kick blocked.

Sweeley never had seen a college football game until the one in which he competed as a Michigan freshman. In four seasons he missed only one game, the result of "a little row with a math professor."

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Wheat and rye futures prices edged higher today in a quiet market, strengthened by additional limitations on the sales of government-held feed wheat and diminished concern over the government's program for importing Argentine grain. Oats firmed with wheat.

Local and commercial buying appeared in the wheat pit and offerings have been light, increasing on bulges and diminishing on recessings. Offerings of May rye, coming into the market through leading commission houses, were absorbed easily.

The market closed with all futures at or near the day's extremes, wheat finishing ½ to 1½ higher, December $1.51½, May $1.51½, and rye ½ to ¾ up, December $1.08½, May $1.09½.

PROTECTION OF DAIRY FARMERS ON FEED COSTS

Payment To Be Made Where Increased Cost of Feed Warrants

The War Food Administration has announced effective for the period October 1, 1943 through December 31, 1943, the general provisions of a program to protect dairy farmers against increases above the September, 1942 level in the prices of dairy feeds, including hay.

A payment based primarily on the increased cost of feed since September, 1942 will be made to dairy producers. Considerations will also be given to the difference between prices now being received for milk and those received during the immediate prewar years. Thus, the payment will be higher in areas where the quantity of purchased feed is larger and feed costs have advanced the most, and where the advance in prices received for milk since the period immediately preceding our entry into the war. In any event, the payment will not be less than the equivalent of 25 cents per hundredweight of whole milk delivered, except in areas where other programs for dairy producers are now in effect, and not in excess of 50 cents per hundredweight. When butterfat rather than whole milk is delivered, the minimum and maximum rates will be 3 cents and 6 cents per pound of butterfat, respectively.

The payment rate in areas where a milk subsidy is already in effect, or where a hay program has stabilized hay prices to dairy producers, will be adjusted to take these programs into account.

In some cases, it may be desirable to make the payment to the producer through cooperative marketing associations or other agencies. In all other cases, the payment will be made direct to the dairy producer. All farmers in an area will receive payments at the same rate even though there may be some variation among individual farmers in the area in the proportions of purchased feeds fed dairy herds.

From September, 1942 through June, 1943, the margin between feed costs and dairy product prices was, in general, well above the long-time average. This advantage declined rapidly after June and by September the margin was slightly below the long-time average. During the same period the average advance in farm wages was more than 30 percent and there have been some advances in other operating costs.

The program announced is designed to restore feed costs to the September, 1942 level without disturbing the prices of milk or other dairy products. Since, on the average, prices of dairy products are twenty percent above those of last September, the stabilization of feed costs at the September, 1942 level will make for a somewhat wider margin than a year ago between these costs and milk prices and tend to offset the increases in farm wages and other operating costs. On the average about one-third of a dairy farmer's costs are for feed and about one-sixth for labor.

From September, 1942 to August, 1943, the average price paid by farmers for alfalfa hay increased nearly $7.00 a ton; mixed dairy feeds increased over 60 cents a hundredweight; corn prices advanced 25 cents a bushel; oat prices increased 22 cents a bushel; and linseed meal went up 50 cents a hundredweight. Some further advances have taken place in feed prices during the last month, and, as a consequence, dairymen's feed costs are probably 25 percent above what they were a year ago.

The WFA points out the feed payment program is for a three-month period. It is expected further consideration will be given to the whole milk production program by Congress and appropriate administrative agencies before the expiration of this period.

FACULTY WILL NOT ATTEND OEA MEET

Meetings of Association Is Discontinued for Duration

Faculty members in the Washington C. H. school system will not attend the Central Ohio Educational Association meeting scheduled to be held in Dayton the weekend of October 29. The meeting has been discontinued for the duration. Principal Rettig at Washington High School announced today.

The meeting for central Ohio was held in Columbus last year and nearly 100 percent of the faculty members here attended the meeting. The association meeting's for this district are alternated between Columbus and Dayton.

Schools are always dismissed the Friday that the teachers attend the session.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT PILGRIM CHURCH

A week-end meeting will begin at White Oak Pilgrim Holiness Church October 6 and last through October 10, with services each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Alice Shidow is the evangelist. There will be a Sunday School rally October 10. Dedication of the church will take place Sunday at 2 P. M., with L. W. Sturk, District Superintendent, as the speaker, and the Gospel Five singers will be present and furnish the music.

The public is invited.

WILMINGTON COLLEGE ENROLLMENT IS 130

Enrollment for the fall term at Wilmington College reached 130 as the second week of classes ended Saturday.

Although only approximately half of the normal peace-time enrollment, the figure is only eight less than that of the second semester of 1942-43. Fifteen additional students have registered for Saturday school. Approximately half of the students, 66 in all, are freshmen.

HEAVIEST FROST OF THE SERIES

Official Temperature of 34 During Night

The heaviest frost of the season to date occurred Monday night, and the official low point during the night was 34 with the unofficial reaching several degrees lower and causing a pronounced freeze in many places.

Due to the dry weather, the damage was not extensive as it would have been had there been a great deal of moisture.

Ice was reported on some farms, although the frost generally was not classified as a real "killing" one.

Maximum temperature Monday was 63 degrees and at 8 A. M. Tuesday, the reading was 44.

HEADS OF HOME AT CONFERENCE ON WELFARE

Three-day Conclave Gets Under Way in State Capital Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. David Whiteside, superintendent and matron of the Fayette County Children's Home, today were in the state capital attending the three-day conference of the State Welfare Association.

The meetings, to be held in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel, opened Tuesday and were to continue through Thursday.

Whiteside said just before leaving that their purpose in going was two-fold—to exchange ideas with other home superintendents and to take a streamlined course in child welfare which is offered in connection with the annual convention.

More than a thousand were expected to gather for the sessions from all over the state. Whiteside explained that workers in all fields of social welfare would be in the gathering, adding that it was not limited to home superintendents and county officials.

In view of the wartime restrictions on driving, it was expected that those who could make the trip would remain for the entire convention and attend all of the sessions. In normal years, it was said, many drove back and forth from their homes in central Ohio and attended only those discussion groups which particularly interested them.

THE DOLLAR SPEAKS CHURCH DAY THEME

WSCS Has Church Day at Grace Methodist Wednesday

"The Dollar Speaks" is the theme of the Church Day of the WSCS to be held at Grace Methodist Church Wednesday. A playlet will demonstrate to those attending what the dollars contributed by church members do after they leave the church.

Silver, gold, old and new paper dollars will be represented by Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Wert Briggs, Mrs. Glenn Rodgers and Mrs. E. F. Todhunter. Mrs. John Leland will represent a Chinese girl; Mrs. Earl McVey, the Ethel Harpst home in Cedartown, Ga.; Mrs. Clifford D. Gallitt and her small son, the work at the South Side settlement in Columbus and Mrs. Annetta Rowe, the Grace Methodist Church.

Mrs. A. S. Stember will read a letter from Josephine M. Garcia, whose education at the George O. Robinson school in San Juan, Puerto Rico, was sponsored by the church here. Mrs. Ola Boyer will represent the Retired Deaconesses and Missionaries Home. At the close of the afternoon's program, to begin at 1:30, a quartet, Mrs. Frank Christopher, Mrs. Mabel Blessing, Mrs. Frank Haines and Mrs. John Weade, will sing "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," with Mrs. Harold Craig at the piano.

The business session of the day will begin at 11 A. M. and lunch will be served at 12:15 P. M. Mrs. Arch Riber is the program chairman.

LIONS WILL HAVE STAG PARTY TONIGHT

Party To Be Held at Bob Terhune's Cottage

The Lions Club meeting tonight will be a stag party at Bob Terhune's cottage. A yearly event, this party is looked forward to by Lion's Club members, according to Paul Van Voorhis, secretary of the club here.

Lions will meet at 6 P. M. at Bryant's restaurant to share the ride to the cottage, near Crook's station, in order to conserve gasoline and tires.

Members who are not sure of the location are requested to find out the route before they start, by Van Voorhis. Last year, he said, one carload of men lost the way and drove nearly 30 miles out of their way until they finally arrived at the cottage long after the party had started.

$12,354 A DAY NEEDED TO MEET COUNTY QUOTA

Fayette Countians 2-1 Behind Servicemen From County Now

If Fayette Countians purchase $12,354 every day from now until October 16, the county quota of $1,018,000 will be met. The sales for E, F and G bonds have been extended until that date, although purchasers are reminded that in order to have the bond orders at the Federal Reserve Bank by October 16, it will be necessary to purchase the bonds at least by the 14th of the month.

With 3,473 individual subscribers registered so far, Fayette County is more than two to one behind the estimated 1500 boys from here in the armed services.

Had it not been for the extra two weeks time on the Third War Loan drive, Fayette County would have finished last Thursday with only 51 percent of its quota. Now that the time has been extended, the picture here has brightened until War Finance committee members feel that the quota here will be met.
